This responsibility includes selecting appropriate accounting principles and methods, and making decisions affecting the measurement of transactions in which objective judgment is required.

The Board of Directors is composed entirely of Directors who are neither management nor employees of the Society. Our responsibility is to express a conclusion on the accompanying financial statements based on our review. We conducted our review in accordance with Canadian generally accepted standards for review engagements, which require us to comply with relevant ethical requirements.

A review of financial statements in accordance with Canadian generally accepted standards for review engagements is a limited assurance engagement. The practitioner performs procedures, primarily consisting of making inquiries of management and others within the entity, as appropriate, and applying analytical procedures, and evaluates the evidence obtained.

The procedures performed in a review are substantially less in extent than, and vary in nature from, those performed in an audit conducted in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards. Accordingly, we do not express an audit opinion on these financial statements.

Based on our review, nothing has come to our attention that causes us to believe that the financial statements do not present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Alberta Lawyers' Assistance Society as at October 31, 2022, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations.

Alberta Lawyers' Assistance Society Notes to the Financial Statements

For the year ended October 31, 2022
(Unaudited)

1. Incorporation and nature of the organization

Alberta Lawyers' Assistance Society (the "Society") is a registered charity incorporated under the Societies Act of Alberta. The Society is exempt from income taxes under the Income Tax Act ("the Act"). In order to maintain its status as a registered charity under the Act, the Society must meet certain requirements within the Act. In the opinion of management these requirements have been met.

The Society's purpose is to provide assistance, counselling and referral services to Alberta's lawyers, articling students, and their immediate families in personal crisis. Funding is provided by contributions from the Law Society of Alberta, The Canadian Bar Association (Alberta), and private contributors. In fiscal 2021 and 2022, the Society provided counselling through the professionals of Forbes Psychological Services Ltd. ("Forbes"), a leading provider of assistance to professionals and their families.

2. Significant accounting policies

The financial statements have been prepared in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations as issued by the Accounting Standards Board in Canada using the following significant accounting policies:

Cash

Cash includes cash balances with banks and investments with maturities of three months or less.

Marketable securities

Marketable securities consist of Guaranteed Investment Certificates (GICs) with a one year term.

Revenue recognition

The Society follows the deferral method of accounting for contributions. Restricted contributions are recognized as revenue in the year in which the related expenses are incurred. Unrestricted contributions are recognized as revenue when received or receivable if the amount to be received can be reasonably estimated and collection is reasonably assured.

Contributed materials

The Society receives various in-kind services to carry out its business operations. Because of the difficulty in determining their fair value, no amount is recorded for contributed services in these financial statements.

Financial instruments

The Society recognizes its financial instruments when the Society becomes party to the contractual provisions of the financial instrument. All financial instruments are initially recorded at their fair value.

Financial instruments consist of: cash, marketable securities, accounts receivable and accounts payable and accruals. Unless otherwise noted, it is management's opinion that the Society is not exposed to significant credit and liquidity risk, or market risk, which includes currency, interest rate and other price risks.

At initial recognition, the Society may irrevocably elect to subsequently measure any financial instrument at fair value. The Society has not made such an election during the year.

Transaction costs and financing fees directly attributable to the origination, acquisition, issuance or assumption of financial instruments subsequently measured at fair value are immediately recognized in the excess of revenues over expenses for the current period. Conversely, transaction costs and financing fees are added to the carrying amount for those financial instruments subsequently measured at cost or amortized cost.

Government assistance

Government assistance is recognized when there is a reasonable assurance that the conditions attached to the government assistance will be met and that assistance will be received. Government assistance is recognized as income over the periods necessary to match it with the related costs that it is intended to compensate.

2. Significant accounting policies (Continued from previous page)

Allocation of expenses

The Society engages in counselling services; promotion, education and awareness; peer support management activities and administration programs. The costs of each program include the costs of personnel that are directly related to providing the program. The salaries and wages are allocated based on a percentage of time spent on each program.

3. Economic dependence

The Society's primary source of revenue is the Law Society of Alberta (the "Law Society"). The funding can be cancelled if the Society does not observe certain established guidelines. The Society's ability to continue viable operations is dependent upon maintaining its relationship with the Law Society and ensuring that programs offered align with the Law Society's mission statement. As at the date of these financial statements, the Society believes that it is in compliance with these guidelines.

4. Contributed materials and services

During the year ended October 31, 2022, the Society received contributed services of $54,800 (2021 – $53,200) representing the estimated fair value of contributions of office space, printing and mailing, accounting, brochure production and conference space.
